

COURSE OF TRUE LOVE

Miss Susie Burch Expresses Will of Her Own.

REMAINS TRUE TO MAN OF HER CHOICE

Declares She Will Not Return to Her Home.

MAKES A STATEMENT

"I positively will not return home," said Miss Susie Burch, an alleged runaway girl from Ballston, Va., when she reached the house of detention about noon today to be held for her mother. "I'm nearly nineteen years old, and a lawyer whom I consulted last night told me I could not be compelled to return."

Miss Burch is a bright and intelligent young woman who says she left her parents' home at Ballston Monday morning. It is alleged, because her father wanted her to marry a wealthy man whom she does not love. Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Burch, the young woman's mother, called on Lieut. Amis at the first precinct station and asked that the police assist her in her search for her daughter.

A photograph of Miss Susie was furnished the police, as well as a description of her. The young woman's mother was worried over her absence and Lieut. Amis promised he would do everything in his power to restore the missing daughter to her.

Policeman Phil Browne, soon after receiving the description, arrested Miss Burch in an eating saloon on Pennsylvania avenue near 12th street. He saw her walking along Pennsylvania avenue and believing she was the one whose photograph he had seen, he hurried to the station, and another look at the photograph, returned and made the arrest.

"Isn't this perfectly shocking," Miss Burch asked a Star reporter who called on her at the house of detention, exhibiting a clipping from a morning paper about her disappearance. "Now that mother has seen fit to do this I'll tell the whole story. You may put my picture in the paper, too, for it won't hurt me."

Tells Her Story.

Miss Burch said she left home Monday morning intending to go to Pittsburgh, where a young man whom she loves is employed. "My father," she stated, "was anxious for me to marry a young man from St. Louis who boarded at our house for awhile. His father died some time ago, leaving him $15,000 and the Hotel Pitt in St. Louis. In addition, he is now in St. Louis settling up his father's estate, and I thought I would leave home before he returned."

She said she was sent from home last summer in order to get her away where she would not see the young man who is now in Pittsburgh. His parents, she said, were also opposed to their keeping company, and when she returned home he was sent to St. Louis. The young man came here on a visit, according to Miss Burch, and he liked this part of the country so well that he concluded he would remain. He did so, and she says he boarded with her parents.

"I got tired," she stated, "and Monday I left home for good. I'm going to Pittsburgh, and I don't want to see my father, and I'll kill myself rather than return home."

Her arrest today was her first police experience. She had always had a horror of policemen, she said, but now she thinks they are not so bad, after all.

"I was treated real nice at the first precinct," Miss Susie stated, "and there's nothing the matter with the house of detention."

Extension of Courtship.
The officer did not walk side by side with his prisoner, but permitted her to go ahead of him. It developed that Miss Burch, who knew the officers were looking for her, had hid herself in the way of Policeman Browne purposely. Upon arrival of the young woman here Monday morning, she was taken to the house of a friend near 13th and H streets and rented a room. Then she thought she would get employment here pending arrangements for her journey to Pittsburgh.

Since she reached here she has been to the theater several times and had purchased tickets for performances for today and tomorrow. She had been to one of the theaters a few minutes before she was arrested. During her stay in the city she visited her aunt on E street and while visiting a friend near her aunt's house yesterday she saw her mother call at her aunt's house. Realizing the subject of her mother's visit, Miss Susie hurried to her mother's room, and she said she proceeded to follow her maternal parent, she was heavily veiled, she says, in order that her mother might not detect her, and she was near the first precinct station when her mother, aunt and a friend of the family entered the building. Her mother, she says, glanced at the cab and she heard her remark:

"I'll bet that's Susie now."

At night she went to the theater, and on her way there she passed her brother, but the latter did not see her. Sunday morning, Miss Burch says, she informed her mother she would not live at home, but she did not tell her just when she would leave. Mr. M. F. Burch, her father, is a prosperous farmer at Ballston. He owns a large farm and it is stated, is worth considerable money.

Mrs. Burch was notified of her daughter's arrest and detention, and she is expected here late this afternoon.

TROLLEY ROAD PROJECTED.

Rumor of One Between Baltimore and Washington.

A special to the Baltimore Sun of today from Cleveland, Ohio, says:

"A strong syndicate of Cleveland and Akron capitalists, at the head of which are Lamprecht Bros. & Co., F. N. Wilcox and James Christy, Jr., have organized the Washington-Baltimore Electric Railway Company and will build a trolley road from Washington to Baltimore and also to Annapolis."

"Engineers and rights-of-way men are already at work. The road will be constructed regardless of expense and as quickly as possible. It will be one of the most complete electric railways in the world."

"Messrs. Lamprecht, Christy and Wilcox have been engaged in this enterprise for about a year, arranging preliminaries, obtaining franchises and selecting a route. They have been successful in securing public approval of their project, and the capital of $1,500,000 has been subscribed."

"The railway will extend from the Baltimore city line, a distance of thirty-three miles, and from a point on the line about midway between Washington and Baltimore to Annapolis, a distance of fifteen miles."

"The company will operate within the city of Annapolis, having obtained a long and liberal franchise in that municipality. The entire system will be operated from the Washington-Baltimore Electric Railway Company and will build a trolley road from Washington to Baltimore and also to Annapolis."

"Arrangements will probably be made for the operation of cars from the limits of the District of Columbia to the center of the city of Washington over the tracks of the Washington Traction and Electric Company."

There is no way to ascertain here whether or not there is any truth in the above report, although there has existed an impression that it would require a special act of the legislature of Maryland to permit the building of any such railroad. It is understood, however, that under the constitution of Maryland the county commissioners are vested with the necessary authority in the premises.

Favorable Action Recommended.

Favorable action has been recommended to the District Commissioners by the assessor, Mr. H. H. Darnelle, upon the request of Mr. Joseph A. O'Hare of 1008 F street, for the remission of interest and costs upon assessment against lot 99, square 117, for paving the alley, the assessment having been declared invalid by the District Supreme Court.

LOGAN STATUE UNVEILING.

Program of Exercises to Be Observed Next Tuesday.

The equestrian statue of Gen. John A. Logan, which stands in Iowa Circle, will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies Tuesday, April 9, at 2:30 o'clock. The President and his cabinet are to attend. The military column which will escort the President from the Executive Mansion to Iowa Circle will form in Jackson place at 1:30 o'clock. Gen. Gunther, commanding at Fort Monroe, will command the escort. He will have a small staff, all the members of which have not been chosen. The chief of staff will be Col. Johnson of the United States Army. The only aid thus far appointed by Gen. Gunther is Capt. F. S. Strong. It is understood the other aids will be appointed from among the membership of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The right of the line will be held by a battalion of marines under command of Col. B. Reeves Russell, U. S. M. C., and behind these will probably march a company of United States Cavalry. Following will be a light battery from Washington barracks, commanded by Capt. E. D. Parkhurst. Behind the battery will be the President, cabinet and other distinguished persons in carriages. The rear of the line will be brought up by the Provisional Regiment, District of Columbia National Guard. Col. Trefl commanding. The parade will march will be through H street to 16th, to Rhode Island avenue and to Iowa Circle. Immediately upon the arrival of the head of the column at the statue the battery will counter-march to the White Lot, and at 2:30 will fire a salute of fifteen guns, this being the number of guns to which a major general is entitled.

The exercises at the statue will be impressive. The opening address will be delivered by General Dodge, who will be followed by Rev. Dr. F. B. Bridger, pastor of the Metropolitan M. E. Church. Franklin Simmons, the sculptor, will be introduced. Master George Tucker, a grandson of Gen. Logan, will then be introduced by General Logan. The band of the 11th Infantry will play.

President McKinley will deliver a few remarks, at the conclusion of which the band will render a selection.

The principal address will be made by Senator Charles McNamara, and after music by the band Rev. Dr. Butler of the Lutheran Church will render a benediction.

REDUCING THE ASIATIC STATION.

Matter Being Considered by the Bureau of Navigation.

The prospective reduction of the United States naval force now on the Asiatic station is beginning to assume definite form. Thus far the matter has not been finally considered by the President, nor has Secretary Long had an opportunity to confer with Admiral Remey. But the naval bureau of navigation, which has charge of the assignment of ships to the various stations, has proposed that there be a reduction of the force on the Asiatic station. This has been based on a consideration of the needs of the navy and without reference to any of the political questions involved.

Should it be decided to reduce the force the movement of vessels probably would not be broken up. As yet no consideration has been given to the disposition of the ships when they are relieved in the far east. It is expected, however, that the north Atlantic squadron will be augmented by at least one or two ships, while the south Atlantic and the Pacific squadrons also will be reinforced. Quite a number of the ships will have to go out of commission, as they have seen long service in tropical waters, and will need a general overhauling.

MONEY ORDERS FOR CANADA.

Exchanges Will Be Extended to Thirty Thousand Offices.

An arrangement has just been concluded between the United States and Canada under which all postal moneys sent between this country and Canada will go at the domestic rate of 3-10 of 1 per cent. Instead of the international rate of 1 per cent, as at present. This concession is regarded as more important to the money order business than any action taken since the inception of the system. Negotiations had been in progress for some time between the respective postal administrations looking to the further unification of the postal systems of the United States and Canada with respect to the money order business. The money orders annually sent to Canada now aggregate about $2,000,000, and in the other direction a little less than that amount. The exchange of these orders is now restricted to 4,000 offices in this country, but under the new arrangement will be extended to 30,000 offices in this country, any money order office in either country being thus authorized to issue or pay them.

It is expected that the radical reduction in the rate will trade the business. The reduction is especially important to business interests along the border. It is probable that similar arrangements will be made with the Philippines, Cuba and elsewhere.

DEATH OF GEORGE A. MILLS.

Senior Member of Firm in Charge of the Grafton Hotel.

George A. Mills, senior member of the firm of George A. Mills & Son, proprietors of the Grafton Hotel of this city, died at the Grafton last night in his seventy-second year. He had been in poor health for several months, and early in March went to Florida, but his stay there failing to prove beneficial, he returned to Washington a few days ago. Mr. Mills was widely known, especially in Washington and Baltimore, and was held in warm esteem for his genial and sterling qualities. He was born in Baltimore in 1829, his father being Ezekiel Mills of Snow Hill, Md., and his mother a member of the Sands family of Annapolis. An uncle, Samuel Sands was for many years editor of the American Farmer, and one of his brothers, Col. S. Sands Mills, was sheriff of Baltimore some twenty years ago.

Mr. Mills grew up in Baltimore and was engaged in various business pursuits, finally establishing, with his brother-in-law, Elias Harrington, the firm of Harrington & Mills, manufacturers of furniture. During and after the civil war the firm was largely engaged in government contracts, and Mr. Mills, in this way, formed the acquaintance of many eminent public men, of whom he had a fund of interesting anecdotes. He was a most entertaining narrator of his varied experiences, especially during the dramatic period of the war, and there was always a vein of kindly humor and large-hearted tolerance running through his stories, even of those with whom he had differed.

Having met with business reverses in Baltimore he removed to Washington, and for several years, assisted by his son, George A. Mills, Jr., successfully managed the Chevy Chase Inn. About six years ago, in conjunction with his son, Harrington & Mills, he opened the Grafton, which had been built for the use of the hotel and after the civil war the firm was largely engaged in government contracts, and Mr. Mills, in this way, formed the acquaintance of many eminent public men, of whom he had a fund of interesting anecdotes. He was a most entertaining narrator of his varied experiences, especially during the dramatic period of the war, and there was always a vein of kindly humor and large-hearted tolerance running through his stories, even of those with whom he had differed.

His remains will be buried at Greenmount cemetery, Baltimore, tomorrow. Funeral services will be held at the cemetery at 3:30 p.m.

TO STUDY THE WHOLE SUBJECT.

Naval Board Will Investigate Systems of Wireless Telegraphy.

The Navy Department for some time has been giving careful attention to the subject of wireless telegraphy, with a view to ascertaining how far it can be practically applied to the naval service. The subject has now advanced to the point where Secretary Long has appointed a special board of officers to make a thorough inquiry on the subject. The board consists of Captain Chadwick, Lieutenant Powell and Lieutenant Commander Hodgson. The meetings of these officers will take place at Newport, and it is expected that their conclusions will determine to what extent the wireless system can be utilized for the navy. Senator Marconi, the Italian inventor, whose name is identified with wireless telegraphy, has been in this country of late, but it is not known here whether the Newport board has received from him any communications relative to the adoption of his system. It is the purpose of Secretary Long to have the entire subject gone into, with a view to developing not only the practical utility of the Marconi system, but of all others which may be available for naval uses.

Verdict for $1,000.

A verdict has been recorded awarding the plaintiff damages in the sum of $1,000 in the case of Franklin H. Mackey, administrator of the estate of Charles A. Martin against the Washington Asphalt Block and Tile Company, tried before Justice Clabaugh and a jury in Circuit Court No. 2. The amount sued for was $10,000.

It was contended by the administrator that July 24, 1897, while Martin was employed by the company, he was killed by a rock thrown from a boat or scow operated by the defendant a bucket, in which rock was being hoisted, fell, struck Martin and knocked him into the water, his death resulting from drowning.

Gas Lamps Relocated.

The District Commissioners have directed that two gas lamps be relocated on 7th street between F and G streets, and that an additional gas lamp be erected at the northwest corner of 7th street and Morris place northeast. They have denied the request of Mr. W. B. Young and others that light be erected on Anacostia road from Ridge road to Emerson street. In the subdivision known as East Washington Park, on the ground that the nearest gas lamp is over a mile distant, and the nearest naphtha lamp a mile and half distant.

Lieut. Stout Sent to Indian Head.

First Lieut. Harry H. Stout, ordnance department, United States army, has been ordered from New York city to the naval proving grounds at Indian Head, Md., on business pertaining to certain experiments in connection with the manufacture of smokeless powder.

The Angelus

Plays Any Piano.

Any One Can Play It.

No musical talent on the part of performer is required. A child that has never before seen a piano can, with the aid of the ANGELUS ORCHESTRAL PIANO PLAYER, render the most difficult compositions in a manner otherwise possible to only the most accomplished pianist.

It plays the piano perfectly, with all the touch and technique of the artistic musician. The "Angelus" is making players of thousands of people who never expected to experience the pleasure of producing music themselves, and pianos that have been idle for years are now being used.

Plays any class of music you wish—operatic, dance, sacred or popular songs. The "ANGELUS" PIANO PLAYER is so much better than supposedly similar instruments that there is nothing with which to compare it. It has the endorsement of our best musicians.

Can be instantly rolled up to any piano, grand, square or upright, making it a self-playing instrument, and as readily rolled away to any other part of the home.

Cases in all varieties of beautiful figured woods and finished equal to pianos.

No electricity connected with it in any way; its motive power is air, and a gentle push upon the pedals will start its execution.

A LINK IN JOHNSON'S CHAIN.

Philadelphia, Trenton and New York Railroad Incorporated.

A special to the New York Tribune from Trenton, N. J., yesterday says: The Philadelphia, Trenton and New York Railroad Company, which is a link in the Johnson chain to connect New York and Philadelphia by trolley, was incorporated here today. The company has an authorized capital stock of $500,000. The only part of the line for the construction of which a map was filed is about a mile through this city. This is from the terminus of the Trenton, Lawrenceville and Princeton railroad, already completed, to the New Jersey side of the Chabour street bridge across the Delaware. The company now holds an option on this bridge. It has also an option on the Trenton, Lawrenceville and Princeton Railroad Company, which, according to a statement of one of the directors of the new concern tonight, will be purchased next week. This road, he said, would be extended to New Brunswick, and thence to New York by the route over which the company claims to hold franchises or options on franchises.

From here south the road, according to the plans announced, will run to Langhorne, and thence to Holland and Willow Grove. To accomplish this the company has secured a private way almost the entire distance between here and Langhorne.

The directors of the new company are Thomas B. Lylich and Frank S. Drake, Philadelphia; Charles M. Bates, New York; Charles B. Case, Gardner H. Cain and Lewis C. Case, Trenton. It is stated that the next step will be the filing with the secretary of state embracing three charters already held by the company.

Menaced by French Warships.

LONDON, April 5.—The Times has received the following from its correspondent in Wellington, New Zealand:

"France, after establishing a naval station in the Pacific and increasing her warships to five within a few weeks, is now engaged in strengthening her land defenses. This action is regarded as menacing British interests in the South Pacific."

Unattila Street.

Mr. B. H. Warner has informed the District Commissioners that Unattila street is not the property of the District, he claiming that it is owned by the heirs of the late Mary J. Warner. "I think," says Mr. Warner, "the Commissioners ought to institute proceedings for the condemnation of this street at once, and that it ought to be put in proper shape for public use."
